Aim of Seminar:

The culture of India is one of the oldest and unique. In India, there is amazing cultural diversity throughout the country. The South, North, West and East have their own distinct cultures and almost every state has carved out its own cultural niche. There is hardly any culture in the world that is as varied and unique as India. India is a vast country, having variety of geographical features and climatic conditions. India is home to some of the most ancient civilizations, including four major world religions, Hinduism, Buddhism, Jainism and Sikhism. A combination of these factors has resulted into an exclusive culture- Indian culture. Indian culture is a composite mixture of varying styles and influences.

It is important for human resources to know about the culture of a country. In this seminar, there would be invited speakers focusing on Indian Values & Culture, emphasising their role in career enhancement. Further the seminar may have some open sessions for other interested participants (excluding students) to present their papers as per guidelines mentioned ahead in relevance to the theme of seminar. Regarded by many historians as the "oldest living civilization of Earth", the Indian tradition dates back to 8000 BC and has a continuous recorded history since the time of the Vedas, believed variously to be 3,000 to over 5,500 years ago. Several elements of India's diverse culture — such as Indian religions, yoga and Indian cuisine — have had a profound impact across the world.

Through this seminar the budding aspirants (students) from IHTM and other Departments of MDU, would be encouraged, to learn about Indian Values and Culture. Most importantly the session will focus on role of Indian Values & Culture in career enhancement.

WHO SHOULD PARTICIPATE:

- Academicians, researchers, consultants and educators in the hospitality, tourism, management, social sciences and other applied fields
- Senior government officials involved in planning and development
- Policy makers/ business executives, Industry practitioners/professionals
